Permission to Talk with a Third Party About My Case

As a client, the law firm of Amy Edwards Family Law represents my best interests only, even if a third party is paying the fee. My attorney has no obligation whatsoever to the third party except as it relates to me, the client. If I choose to involve a third party in my case, he or she does not have the authority to conflict with, or override, my directions or instructions to the attorney in deciding how to proceed in my case. Unless I tell my attorney otherwise, if I name a third party below, I am authorizing my attorney to discuss my case with them, leave messages for me with them, explain my case to them, and disclose to him or her the legal advice I have received. Using her professional judgment, if my attorney determines there is a conflict of interest between me and the third party, she reserves the right to cease involvement with the third party. Communications between the attorney and the third party are NOT protected by the attorney-client privilege. I am hereby advised to avoid involving other parties in my case, but my attorney also recognize that certain circumstances exist where clients need to have third party interaction.

Below is listed the full name and mailing address of any person(s) I authorize my attorney to discuss my case with, and those person(s) will receive a copy of this contract, which sets forth their relationship with the attorneys and to me, the client. I AM FREE TO REVOKE MY AUTHORIZATION AT ANY TIME. If I revoke this authorization, the attorney will no longer be able to discuss any details of my case with the third party I have named.
